

ARTIST TALK WITH TAIOMAH RUTLEDGE

Thursday, March 5

6 p.m.

Polk/Wilson Gallery

FREE

Multimedia artist Taiomah Rutledge (Ojibwe, Meskawaki, and Dakota) is a co-founder of the Warclan Collective. His art explores themes of identity, generational memory, and reclamation of cultural space.

Join us for an artist talk about his exhibition, Taiomah Rutledge: Origins/Evolutions on view through July 25 in the Grafly Gallery. The works in this exhibition, (the first in the In Place series, which focuses on Wichita-based artists), exemplify the evolution of Rutledge's practice and highlight his role as both artist and cultural advocate.

This talk begins at 6 p.m. in the Polk/Wilson Gallery. Everyone is welcome at this free event.
